EXECUTIVE EDUCATION PARTNERS IN SINGAPORE

Business Schools

Provide suite of executive education programmes that boost access to wide array of business associate and leaders.

ESSEC Business School

ESSEC (3rd in the Financial Times' 2014 Masters in Management ranking) set up its Asia campus in Singapore in 2006. Institutes housed at the ESSEC Asia campus are the: Institute for Research and Education on Negotiation, and Institute for Health Economics and Management.

INSEAD Business School

INSEAD (4th in the Financial Times' 2014 Global MBA ranking) set up its Asia campus in Singapore in 2000, as part of a "dual-campus" model (its home campus is in Fontainebleau, France). There are more than 10 centres of excellence housed at the INSEAD Asia campus, including: Emerging Markets Institute, Global Leadership Centre and Centre for Decision-Making and Risk Analysis.

Nanyang Business School

Executive Education

Nanyang Executive Education designs executive programmes to help individuals to sharpen their competitive edge, and enhance their ability to lead in Asia's dynamic markets. Participants of its programmes can benefit from the latest management thinking and industry best practices through a highly participatory teaching methodology.

NUS Business School

Executive Education

NUS Executive Education seeks to present a combination of global practices and Asian perspectives. Its suite of programmes leverages a blend of approaches such as case studies and business simulation to provide experiential learning for its executive-level participants.

Singapore Institute of Management (SIM)

Professional Development

SIM Professional Development offers a comprehensive range of executive programmes ranging from General Management to Strategy Formulation. Participants, who are of various levels of working professionals from organisations from the region, can upgrade professional skill-sets and pick up latest industry insights from these programmes.

Singapore Management University (SMU)

Executive Development

SMU Executive Development is a centre of excellence for the development of leaders in Asia. It seeks to bring together insights and approaches for business and society in the context of Asia. Its portfolio of programmes is targeted at leaders at four stages of their careers:

- I. Emerging Leaders
- II. General Managers
- III. Senior Executives
- IV. Corporate Directors
